RE: Docket Number 7-16

Dear Secretary Dortch,

The Internet is the fastest growing tool in the world. Its uses are well known, far reaching and universal. In no place can this tool be used more effectively than in American businesses. The Internet can open doors and expedite many processes concerning the flow of business.

However, many small businesses don't use the Internet for business-related activities. A majority of small businesses don't even have a company website or high speed connectivity and this is vital, given that a large part of business is conducted out of the office.

A new proposal for free Internet has come to my attention, the "M2Z/Coalition for Free Broadband Now. Through this new network's efforts, free Internet access will be extended to all Americans. I am proud to support this initiative and hope you will do the same.

Very truly yours,

Carol L. Hirschburg
